"The Great Jungle Journey" VBS July 22-26 9am-11am

- ◆ Guess which continent doesn't have jungles. Did you guess Antarctica? Jungles can be found on every other continent.
- ◆ Chocolate...growing on trees? Cacao seeds grow in the jungle, and that's where chocolate comes from.
- ◆ Indigenous people sometimes use poison-tipped arrows to hunt. Where do they get the poison? From poison dart frogs!

Mother's Day Stories

A little boy forgot his lines in a Sunday school presentation. His mother was in the front row to prompt him. She gestured and formed the words silently with her lips, but it did not help. Her son's memory was blank. Finally, she leaned forward and whispered the cue, "I am the light of the world." The child beamed and with great feeling and a loud clear voice said, "My mother is the light of the world." (Bits and Pieces, August, 1989)

When Robert Ingersoll, the notorious skeptic, was in his heyday, two college students went to hear him lecture. As they walked down the street after the lecture, one said to the other, "Well, I guess he knocked the props out from under Christianity, didn't he?" The other said, "No, I don't think he did. Ingersoll did not explain my mother's life, and until he can explain my mother's life I will stand by my mother's God." (James S. Hewett)

A teacher gave her class of second graders a lesson on the magnet and what it does. The next day in a written test she included this question "My full name has six letters. The first one is M. I pick up things. What am I?" When the test papers were turned in, the teacher was astonished to find that almost 50% of the students answered the question with the word Mother. (Source Unknown)

Our minister's wife told of filling out a form in her pediatrician's office. Beside the blank marked "occupation" were these words: "If you devote the greater part of your time to loving, caring and making a home for your family, put a big star in this space." (Bonnie Miller)
